

Our Alaska Tour

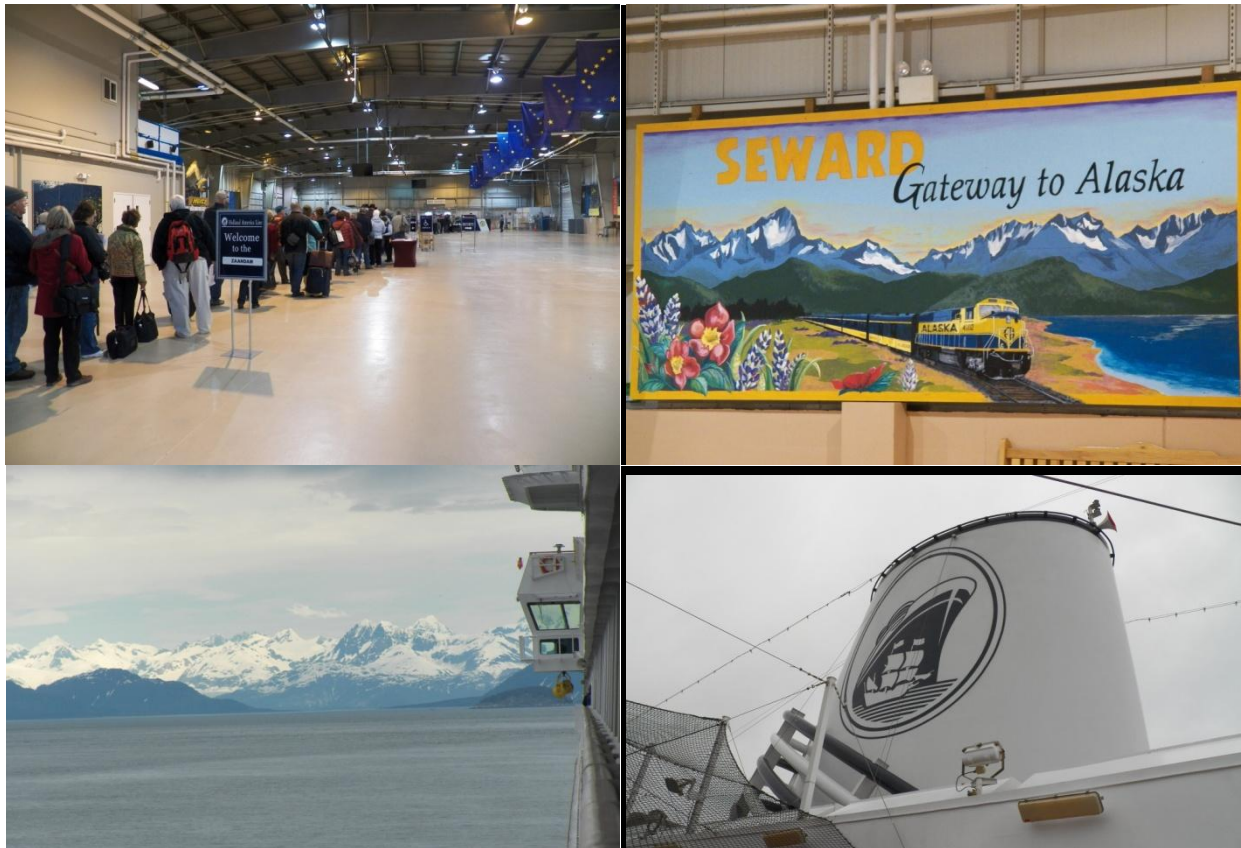

m/s Zaandam – June 3-6, 2012

Late afternoon on June 3, after completing our Kenai Fjords Tour in Seward, we took a short bus hop over to the ship terminal where we boarded the MS Zaandam for the remainder of our Alaska tour. June 4th was a day at sea. On June 5th we got another look at glaciers. Fairly close but not as close as the small pontoon boat got on the Kenai Fjords Tour. On June 6th we docked in Haines for the day. Here are some pictures we took on our cruise ship on those days.

Above: The Zaandam in port at Haines Alaska.

Below: Waiting in line to get on our ship at the Seward ship terminal and a sign inside the terminal.

Above: Pictures taken on our ship.

We liked our set dinner plan on the ship. We had dinner each evening in the same dining room table with the same guests and the same wait staff at the same time. They featured new items each day or you could pick from a few items which were consistent every day. You could pick and appetizer, soup or salad, main course, and desert. The food was quite good.

Above Left: A ship board lecture about the native Alaska people.

Above Right: The name plate from our ship.

Below Left: The tail of a whale.

Below Right: Every evening when they made up are room, they created a sculpture of sea life/ wild life, using towels.

